ABOUT THE WINERY

Jack Rabbit Hill is a diversified farm located in western Colorado's North Fork Valley, near the town of Hotchkiss. The 70-acre property grows 18 acres of grapes, 11 acres of hops (Jack Rabbit Hops), sheep, cows, and chickens of course. We make vineyard-driven wines (JRH Wines), custom-blended keg wines for restaurants (WineTapistry), craft spirits (Peak Spirits, CapRock, BeerCraftWhiskey), and hard cider (New Avalon Cider).

When it comes to making tasty products we have our noses in the dirt as much as in the glass, because all great foods start with clean growing practices! We started out in 2000 as a certified organic farm, and got into biodynamic practices in 2006, with Demeter certification in 2008.
