ABOUT THE WINERY

Hailing from a family of winemakers from the Bergerac region, it was in 2009, while working with Didier Montchovet in Hautes Côtes de Beaune that Alexandre Durand experienced a pivotal moment in his life as a winemaker: 'That's where I understood that 98% of a great terroir wine was made in the vineyard, that is, in and with nature! It is essential to preserve, or even often recreate, natural symbioses. The terroir is alive. Soil, microorganisms, wildlife, flora, vines: everything is connected.'

Alexandre met his companion Sybil Baldassare in 2010 during the harvest period. After a few years in Italy, the young couple relocated to Faugères in 2014 to take on roles as farm managers. In the following year, Sybille established her own winery.
